

CRYSTALS TO MAKE
ARIZONA DRIER

Temperance Federation is Planning to Make Prohibition Laws More Drastic.

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 7.—Ways and means of making Arizona's rigid prohibition law more drastic are being considered at a meeting of the Arizona Temperance Federation, which will be held in Phoenix late this month.

The federation plans to ask for a law requiring that confiscated liquor be destroyed publicly. It may also ask that the power to suspend jail sentences of bootleggers be taken away from judges and justice of the peace. On the other hand leading temperance advocates favor vesting more power in the attorney general, enabling him to demand a change of venue from a county in which he thinks that prohibition is not being properly enforced to one in which public sentiment is pronouncedly "dry."

May Initiate Another Amendment.

If the supreme court decides that liquor can be introduced for personal use, the federation will initiate another constitutional amendment strengthening the prohibition amendment now in force.

Dr. H. A. Hughes, of Phoenix, one of the most earnest workers in the temperance cause, says that no additional legislation is needed to enforce the prohibition law in Maricopa county. He charges, however, that the law is not being rigidly enforced in some of the other counties.

"I have heard that a man in Tucson has already fitted up a barroom to take care of his personal use. If the supreme court decides against us in the cases now pending," remarked the doctor.

LEGISLATOR AND SOLDIER DIES

Col. Hepburn, Author of the Hepburn Railroad Law, Succumbs to Illness.

Clarinda, Iowa, Feb. 7.—Col. Wm. P. Hepburn, former member of congress from this district, died here today, after a long illness.

Death resulted from kidney and heart trouble. Col. Hepburn was near death last November, but after a time rallied and a few weeks ago was so much improved that he thought seriously of returning to Washington to look after an extensive law practice which he acquired after leaving congress. About a week ago his condition took a turn for the worse.

Besides the widow, a son and daughter survive him.

Col. Hepburn, although 28 years in congress, became best known throughout the country during the Roosevelt administration. It was he who framed what later was called the Hepburn law, prohibiting rebates and discrimination by railroads. As chairman of the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce, he was the author of the 50th congress he was the author of three acts out of five which the then president Roosevelt afterward declared would cause that congress to be memorable in history because of its constructive legislation. Of the five acts, four came from Col. Hepburn's committee and three of them—the Hepburn law, the pure food act and the public health act—were framed by Col. Hepburn himself.

Col. Hepburn was born in Columbiana county, Ohio, November 1, 1857, removing to Iowa City, where his mother and his stepfather took up their residence on a farm, where he was eight years old.

Served in Civil War.

When the civil war broke out, Col. Hepburn organized a company and became its captain. This company was sent to the front in February, 1862, as a part of the Second Iowa cavalry. He was soon advanced to the rank of major and in that position earned distinction at the battle of Corinth. Not long afterwards he was placed on the staff of Gen. Sherman, and in December, 1862, he became a lieutenant colonel and was put in command of the second brigade, cavalry division, 16th army corps, and was transferred to other commands and served until the close of the war.

In 1876, Col. Hepburn moved to Clarinda, Ia., where he had since been his home, except for a part of the time when he had resided in Washington, D. C. He was elected to congress in 1880 and twice successively thereafter. During the Harrison administration he was secretary of the treasury department, 1885, to again enter congress for his old district. He was an unsuccessful candidate for United States senator in 1888.

A Narrative Of Everyday Affairs
Their Married Life

Anne Redding Asks Helen for Advice About a New Plan.

"WHAT do you think about it?" asked Anne Redding, anxiously.

She and Helen were having tea at a big hotel and were talking over a proposition that Anne had just made.

"Why, I don't know, dear, I hardly know what to advise."

"Why aren't you more enthusiastic?" said Anne, looking up suddenly.

"You spoiled baby," Helen laughed. "The reason why I hesitate is this: You and Frances are both so temperamental that I hardly know just how you would get along living together."

"Why, I think Frances," the most wonderful girl I have ever met," said Anne enthusiastically.

"And so do I," said Helen. "I love Frances dearly; in fact, she has stood for a great many of my ideals."

"Then why don't you think we'd get along?"

"Listen, Anne," said Helen, leaning across the table. "I love Frances, and I love you, too, and if it is going to make you happy to live together I should be the last person in the world to say a word against it. I know that you are lonely. I know how much you miss home life, and at any rate, you might try this scheme a while and see how it works."

Frances Fascinating But Selfish.

The first thing that bothered Helen, was the fact that Frances was so fascinating, but selfish.

"Helen," Helen went on, "it won't be for long."

"What do you mean?"

"There is Jack, you know. I suppose he will have something to say."

Anne resented furiously. "Of course," she said, "deliciously embarrassed."

"Jack and I do expect to plan together some day."

"Of course you do," said Helen gaily.

HUGHES PEROKES
CANADIAN FEAR

Minister of Militia Tells Country Not to "Stam-pede" Because of Fires.

Ottawa, Canada, Feb. 7.—General Sir Sam Hughes, minister of militia, has issued a statement rebuking those Canadians who, he says, seem about to be stampeded because of fears of German aggression.

Referring to the fires in munition plants and in parliament buildings, he says there would be fewer alarmist reports as well as fewer fires if people would be more careful of their cigar and cigarette stumps.

Some time ago Gen. Hughes announced that his chief intelligence officer was of German birth and this statement had occasioned protests. Discussing the subject Sunday night Gen. Hughes said:

"An intelligence officer to whom I referred is not in Canada but at the front. He is only one of hundreds of German-Canadians who are fighting for the British flag. He has won the distinguished service order for gallantry in the trenches. It would be well if those who are inclined to criticize loyal German-Canadians would consider their example and go to the front to fight instead of staying at home to criticize brave men who are risking their lives."

Troops Ordered Out.

At Saint Catharines, theater audiences were dismissed when the men began to leave in response to bugle calls. Guards were doubled at a munition plant there. No official at Saint Catharines would say who ordered out the guard, but it was understood there to have been a general order throughout the province.

No orders were received to strengthen the guard on the bridges along the Niagara frontier. They have been under heavy guard since September 1914. Telephone messages from points along the Welland canal reported that nothing unusual happened during the day and that no precautionary orders had been received.

Explosion, Austrian Held.

Hopeler, Ont. Feb. 7.—An explosion was responsible for the fire which destroyed the steel department of the A. V. Jardine foundry Saturday, according to the statement of chief of police Thomas Wilson. A man believed to be an Austrian, who gave the name of John Schmidt, is under arrest on suspicion of having been implicated in starting the fire. The police say they have learned that he has been employed recently in munition plants in Germany.

Wingham, Ont. Feb. 7.—By order of Col. Sherwood, head of the Dominion police, Adolph Schatte, aged 23, a member of the Wingham band, was arrested Sunday night. It is reported he is suspected of espionage. Drawings of buildings and bridges in various parts of western Ontario are said to have been found among his personal effects.

GERMANY TO GIVE NEUTRALS SAFETY.

Way of the success of the negotiations. The principal desire of the United States now is that there shall be an acknowledgment by Germany that the sinking of an unresisting merchantman without warning is in contravention of international law and that such naval warfare shall be permanently discontinued. The German contention is that such assurance already has been given in the Arabic case.

BRITISH WAR OFFICE IS FACING REORGANIZATION.

London, Eng., Feb. 7.—Changes of great importance in the direction of the war are contemplated, says the Daily Sketch, asserting that Earl Kitchener probably will leave the war office.

The sketch says Sir William Robertson, now chief of staff, probably will take over active direction of the war without interference except from the cabinet as a whole, and that a civilian of real ability for organization will become secretary for war.

In event that Earl Kitchener leaves the war office, it is believed he will undertake work of an important character elsewhere.

MAY EQUIP MARE ISLAND TO BUILD BIG WARSHIPS.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—The house today authorized immediate use of $500,000 to equip Mare Island navy yard to begin building a dreadnought or battle cruiser, the first to be constructed on the Pacific coast in a government yard and authorized the expenditure of $10,000 to enlarge facilities at the New York yard. The senate has not yet acted.

13 MEMBERS OF BULGAR PARLIAMENT FACE ARREST.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Feb. 7.—Thirteen members of the Bulgarian parliament face arrest on charges of having accepted bribes from a French agent. The state attorney has asked the government for authority to make the arrest, since members of the law-making body are immune from arrest except by order of the assembly itself. The request has been referred to a committee.

AUSTRIAN FACTORY BLOWN UP.

Rome, Italy, Feb. 7.—Austria's arms factory, the Skoda works, at Pilsen, Bohemia, has been partly destroyed as the result of an explosion, according to a dispatch from Bucharest, Rumania, to the Messagero.

SWISS FACTORIES THREATENED.

Paris, France, Feb. 7.—A number of Swiss factories, which have been supplying the entente allies with munitions, have been threatened with destruction, says the Journal du Jura.

BERLIN TO VISIT KAISER.

Berlin, Germany, Feb. 7.—King Ferdinand of Bulgaria is coming to Germany, it is learned, to return the visit paid by emperor William to the king at Nish, Serbia, on January 18.
